

MEF Seminars

Building Dynamic Third Network Services Powered by
CE 2.0, LSO, SDN and NFV

Seminar Series Sponsor

Event Sponsors

Interactive Discussion Panel – Multi-operator services

Daniel Bar-Lev

Certification and Strategic Programs

MEF

Moderator

Daniel Bar-Lev

Director Certification and Strategic Programs

MEF

Your Panelists

Abel Tong

Sr. Director of Solutions Marketing

Ciena

Claudio Scola

*Director of Product
Marketing, Global
Network Services /*

Level 3 Communication

Gary Williams

EMEA marketing co-chair
MEF

Business Development
Microsemi & Carrier
Ethernet Academy

Mark Porter

Regional Sales Director

CENX

Market Drivers

What is going to be the strongest market driver to achieve multi-operator orchestrated services in the next 3 years and why?

- Increased use of IoT
- Introduction of SDN and NFV
- Availability of high bandwidth cellular connectivity
- Increased use by enterprises of cloud applications
- Increased demand for service portals by users
- Demand for advanced end to end SLA
- End to end dynamic bandwidth and policy
- Reducing service set up time
- Digital transformation of enterprises

Verticals

What are the most attractive verticals to offer multi-operator orchestrated services and why?

- Finance
- Retail
- Government
- Manufacturing
- Health
- Education
-

Winners

Who will be the winners (and losers) in the world of multi-operator orchestrated services?

Technology Driver

What is going to be the critical technology driver to achieve multi-operator orchestrated services in the next 3 years and why?

- Standardized APIs between service providers
- Standardized information models across the industry
- Cloud service lifecycles and architectures

MEF Seminars

Building Dynamic Third Network Services Powered by
CE 2.0, LSO, SDN and NFV

Seminar Series Sponsor

Event Sponsors

Interactive Discussion Panel – Multi-operator services

Daniel Bar-Lev

Certification and Strategic Programs

MEF